DALLAS ISD'S LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOLS GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM & KIMBALL HIGH SCHOOLS BOYS BASKETBALL TEAM CLAIM THE GOLD MEDAL IN THE DISD COCO-COLA TOURNAMENT

Dallas' Lincoln High School Girls Basketball team held off district rival Dallas Skyline 66-60 on Thursday to claim the gold medal in the DISD/Coca-Cola Tournament.

Junior guard Breanna Hayden led the Tigers with 19 points, followed by Alisha Washington with 15 and tournament MVP Kelsey Criner with 14.

Skyline guard Jen Von'Ta Hill tallied a game-high 22 points in the losing effort.

Dallas' Kimball High School Boys Basketball team held off Dallas Hillcrest 56-53 on Thursday to claim the gold medal in the DISD/Coca-Cola Tournament.

When standout transfer Keith Frazier received clearance from the District 11-4A executive committee to play for defending 4A state champion Dallas Kimball, his first thought was not winning the state tournament -- it was winning the DISD/Coca-Cola Tournament.

Kimball's Keith Frazier scored 26 points to take home MVP honors at the DISD/Coca-Cola Classic.

"The day of his DEC meeting, he walked out and cried," Kimball coach Royce Johnson said. "I thought he was going to talk about state, but he said every year since the eighth grade his mother had brought him to the Coca-Cola Tournament and he said, 'Man, what I would do to play in front of that big crowd.'"

Frazier got his chance to shine in front of that big crowd and led his new team to a championship trophy.

Frazier's 26-point performance helped his team win and earned him the tournament MVP plaque.

2012 PRO BOWL ROSTERS: DALLAS COWBOYS DEMARCUS WARE AND JAY RATLIFF

Pro Bowl teams were announced, and two Cowboys were selected for the honor.

Outside linebacker DeMarcus Ware and nose tackle Jay Ratliff will start for the third time in his four Pro Bowl appearances.

Through 15 games this season, Ware has 53 tackles, 18 sacks and two forced fumbles. In this same span, Ratliff has 35 tackles, two sacks and a fumble recovery while playing a major role in the Cowboys' run defense.

"It's a great honor to be selected to play in the Pro Bowl," Ware said in a press release Tuesday. "It shows that all the work through the offseason and season pays off. It's special because you are selected by the fans, your peers and coaches around the league. I am excited to represent the Dallas Cowboys and the entire NFL in the game. Since my rookie season, I always strived on working hard, being consistent and playing at a high level, and it really means something on a personal level to be rewarded."

Beauty of the Week Mrs. Veronica Zambrano

The Dallas Post Tribune has chosen Mrs. Veronica Zambrano as beauty of the week. Mrs. Zambrano is the Vice President of Operations of the Dallas Post Tribune Newspaper. She has been part of the Dallas Post Tribune family for over eight years. She is married to Mr. Ricardo Zambrano; they are expecting their first baby in February. Mr. & Mrs. Zambrano are members of Nuestra Señora del Pilar Catholic Church.

(AP)-NFL legend Deion Sanders and his estranged wife, Pilar, are embroiled in a messy divorce that seems destined to get even uglier, and his wife's attorney told ABCNews.com that his client wants to reconcile with her husband. The soon-to-be ex-Mrs. Sanders reportedly first got wind of the divorce from reading about it on the celebrity gossip website, TMZ. Pilar Sanders' attorney has said his client's top priority has been her marriage and her children.

Sears and Kmart's in Texas are not closing. According to The Associated Press, Sears Holding Corp. released a list on Thursday, December 29, 2011, of 79 stores that will be closing. However, no Texas stores were on the partial list. The company says it wants to focus on revenue-producing stores and stop propping up underperformance stores in hopes that sales will increase.

Dallas officials are planning for a small bond program this year that will focus on storm drainage, street repair and economic development funding.

Mrs. Bennie Brown, a DeSoto resident has entered the political race for Dallas County Commissioners Court, Precinct 3. She hails a wealth of leadership experience from a broad career including executive roles and public service, spanning more than 25 years combined. Currently, she is the Founder and CEO of a non profit, Hope Beyond Hope Foundation, which provides nutritious meals to underprivileged kids and teens. Mrs. Brown resides in DeSoto with her children and husband, Attorney Lorenzo Brown.

(AP)- Peggy Railey, the former wife of a Dallas minister who was acquitted at a sensational trial of trying to kill her, has died nearly 25 years after the attack left her incapacitated. Railey, 63, never recovered from the savage choking assault at her Dallas-area home in April 1987 and remained in what doctors called a vegetative state. Walker Railey, her husband at the time of the attack, was once a rising star at Dallas' First United Methodist Church. He was acquitted in 1993 of trying to strangle his wife, though acknowledged lying about his whereabouts to hide an affair.

(AP) - An anesthesiologist who attached a heart monitor to President John F. Kennedy in a Dallas hospital's emergency room and interviewed wounded Texas Gov. John Connally for surgery has died. Dr. Adolph H. "Buddy" Giesecke Jr. was 79. The doctor's son, Martin Giesecke, says his father died Dec. 24 at his home in the Dallas suburb of Irving. The elder Giesecke was working at Parkland Hospital on Nov. 22, 1963, when Kennedy was assassinated and Connally was struck while riding in the same vehicle. The son says Dr. Giesecke recalled that the president didn't flinch while he inserted heart probes into Kennedy's skin. Giesecke spent most of his career at Parkland's neighboring University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center. He was chairman of the anesthesiology department from 1981 to 1992.

THE EVANS CASE

This case has come to a mistrial for 2011. So let's move on and send special blessings and prayers to the entire Evans Family during this holiday season.

As we all know, Constable Derick Evans was on trial for allegedly holding mandatory raffles for his election campaigns. In the State of Texas raffles are only for churches and non profit organizations. But doing the trial that lasted only a few days, the jurors, after deliberating about seven(7)hours, reported that they were 'hopelessly deadlocked', leaving the Judge no other alternative but to declare a mistrial.

"Hopelessly deadlocked" is a powerful broadcast. And after a brief survey with our readers, we concur. The message from the people clearly states that the jury did not have enough satisfactory evidence to continue. "Hopelessly deadlocked" further indicates that there were some strong opinionated law abiding citizens that paid strict attention to the details and thought this case was possibly a waste of taxpayer's dollars and we should all just go home.

Please know that Evans is a good man, not perfect, but as good as they come. No one can deny his generosity of time and dedication to the community, because he is always available and right in the middle of things. He is highly recognized in all circles and comfortable with his surroundings. Several years ago, the City of Dallas hosted a grand 'Mayfair' event for Older Americans Month, at one of our largest hotel with over a thousand seniors in attendance. Constable Evans escorted in Ebby Halliday, the Honorary Chair. He and his staff, personally assisted with the ceremonies. The city was abuzz for months with pictures and accolades of the constable and his deputies.

There are community legends all around us that knew Constable Evan's grandparents. He was taught the golden rule alone with expected duty and honor of family and friends. Under careful surveillance, you instantly notice his demeanor and mannerisms in uniform and out of uniform. He naturally exhibits a sense of inner pride and peace. Constable Evans is a man that is always busy, involved and engaged and just maybe that is the key to this whole misunderstanding. Let's get busy. You can't hate if you are busy.

Are You Raising One of the Next Generation of Hoodlums? Teaching KIDS TO BE POSITIVE

Dr. Joyce Willard Teal

If most of us were given a choice, I believe we would always choose to spend time with positive people. Why? Because they are usually busy, interesting and successful. They are confident and happy. They love a challenge, and their upbeat attitude infuses you with their enthusiasm. Their enthusiasm is infectious. And the great thing is: when you hang around positive people, you tend to start believing you can achieve just like they can. Now who wouldn't prefer to have positive friends and acquaintances!

If you're wondering how you can teach your kids to have positive attitudes, know that the best way to influence them is to model it yourself. You can change your attitude from negative to positive. Avoid negative people; start hanging around people who are positive. Observe how they look at things, and practice doing the same. Don't let the words, "I can't", pass your lips. Don't tell your kids they can't achieve something just because they haven't succeeded so far. In fact, help them to realize that all successful people also endured some failures prior to becoming successful.

Many teachers and parents have stunted their kids' potential by telling them what they could and/or could not do? Teach your kids not to believe a word of it!

I have had numerous successful Black men share with me negative comments regarding their ability to succeed from their teachers: (You aren't university material); parents: (you never were very good in math), and other influential adults: (you shouldn't take the college tract). If these men had believed these negative people, they would not have achieved success in life. So teach your kids not to allow anyone else's negativity to be the reason for their failure.

Believe that you can teach your child to be a positive person. Then set about doing so. Following are suggestions which can help you achieve your goal:

- Always be positive yourself.
- Set small goals and gradually increase the challenges as you gain confidence.
- Teach your child to do the same.
- Celebrate small victories.
- Congratulate yourself and your kids when expectations are surpassed.
- Train yourself to see the good in people and situations rather than the negative.
- Make sure that the media you and your child watch is of a positive nature.
- Make a conscious effort not to talk negatively and don't allow any negative talk from your children.
- Make it clear to your child that you expect him (or her) to be positive!

Parents: You cannot teach your child to be positive if you are negative. YOU ARE IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT! You're invited to visit www.untealthen.com

Community Heroes, Rodney Peete Kick Off Allstate's National "Give Back Day" in Honor of Martin Luther King, Jr.

For the fourth consecutive year, Allstate Insurance Company is paying tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., by encouraging individuals to volunteer in their communities on MLK Day 2012 (Jan. 16) through its Give Back Day program (allstate.com/givebackday). Rodney Peete, former NFL quarterback and co-founder of the HollyRod Foundation, is helping launch the program along with four outstanding community heroes who are recognized as leading volunteers in their communities. Peete and the four Heroes will be guiding Give Back Day activities in their home cities with Allstate.

The four exemplary individuals who have been named as 2012 Allstate Give Back Day Heroes are:

- Joyce Calvin, Chicago
- Robert Cradle, Baltimore
- John Darjean, Dallas
- Alexandria Phillips, Atlanta

"The Allstate Give Back Day Heroes are remarkable individuals who selflessly give back, keeping Dr. King's legacy alive through their passionate commitment to service," said Vicky Dinges, vice president of public social responsibility for Allstate. "Their volunteer efforts reflect the values and causes important to Allstate and communities across America. We hope their stories inspire others to put their good hands to work in their own communities every day and on Jan. 16, in honor of Dr. King."

On behalf of the Give Back Day Heroes, Allstate is making a donation of $2,500 to a charity of each hero's choice. These remarkable individuals help create positive, sustainable change in their communities by volunteering to address important causes like domestic violence, economic empowerment and mentoring at-risk youth. Heroes will attend The King Center's "Salute to Greatness" Awards in Atlanta on Jan. 14, 2012, for a celebration of individuals and organizations that exemplify excellence in leadership.

In addition, Peete will be attending a special Allstate Give Back Day volunteer event in Atlanta on MLK Day 2012. "It is an honor for me to be associated with this committed and selfless group of heroes. I have always believed in getting involved in causes that you are passionate about, and it's great to see these individuals mirroring the spirit of Dr. King by giving back," said Peete, who spent 16 years in the NFL as a quarterback. Peete and wife Holly's HollyRod Foundation, which helps those living with autism and Parkinson's disease, is currently developing plans to open their first "HollyRod4kids Compassionate Care Center for Autism" in Los Angeles, a central location where families in the autism community can go for support, guidance, treatment and hope.

Individuals interested in participating in Allstate Give Back Day 2012 can visit allstate.com/GiveBackDay to find local volunteer opportunities via VolunteerMatch, an online search engine promoting volunteerism and civic engagement by matching volunteers with charitable organizations and non-profits. Visitors to the website can view profiles of the four Allstate Give Back Day Heroes and learn about their community involvement through a series of video interviews. In 2011, more than 1,500 Allstate employees, agency owners and community members volunteered in dozens of cities across the country on Give Back Day.

Allstate's 2012 Give Back Day Heroes

Joyce Calvin, Chicago - A survivor of domestic violence, Joyce Calvin founded Women of Valor Ministry (WVOM), a non-profit organization dedicated to encouraging, empowering and equipping women and girls to develop their full potential. Since its inception, WVOM has reached more than 10,000 women through skills development, domestic violence workshops, health and wellness conferences, one-on-one interaction and retreats. Calvin also serves as a project coordinator for the All Faiths Against Domestic Violence Project at the Chicago Metropolitan Battered Women's Networks. In 2011, she published her first book, Sister to Sister Support for the Abused Woman: Beauty for Ashes. Calvin currently serves as president of the Women in Ministry and Business Alliance (WIMBA) and executive director of WVOM.

Robert Cradle, Baltimore - In 2001, Robert Cradle was running a successful barbershop when he realized that he wanted his career to make more of an impact. He decided to put his skills to use and started Rob's Barbershop Community Foundation (R.B.C.F.), which provides grooming services for the homeless and children in need throughout Baltimore. Over the past ten years, the projects sponsored by R.B.C.F. have provided over 16,000 services to 6,000 homeless and/or individuals in need. The foundation currently has shops operating at transitional shelters and drug treatment programs. Baltimore's community members who otherwise could not afford these types of services are now able to attend job interviews or school with a neat and clean appearance, not to mention a heightened sense of self-confidence. In 2010, Cradle was granted the American Red Cross "Hometown Hero Award" for his extensive work in the Baltimore community.

John Darjean, Dallas - John Darjean has served as a mentor and coach for the past ten years, teaching inner-city youth the fundamentals of baseball in an effort to keep them off the streets and out of trouble. Darjean grew up in a rough neighborhood and struggled in school but baseball was the one thing that helped keep him out of trouble. After four years playing minor league baseball for the New York Yankees, Darjean started Majors 2 Minors, a baseball league for inner-city kids. He also co-founded the Dallas Baseball Alliance, a program leveraging the fundamentals of baseball to teach kids discipline and life skills. A lifelong volunteer with the Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation, having endured sickle cell traits since birth, Darjean also volunteers with the Dallas Police Athletic League and the American Cancer Society.

Alexandria Phillips, Atlanta - Never-ending compassion for humankind was instilled in Alexandria Phillips at a very early age. Phillips was five years old when she moved with her mother from their hometown near Kansas City, Mo., to the Dominican Republic for a year-long stay in a poverty stricken village. In 2011, she served as Haiti Team intern at the Clinton Foundation and worked for the Clinton Global Initiative Annual Meeting. She was also recently named an Opportunity Nation Scholar. Phillips, 21, is currently a senior at Spelman College in Atlanta where she is majoring in International Studies and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta, the Student United Way, Actively Changing Tomorrow through Service (ACTS) and the Association of Fundraising Professionals. After graduation, Phillips hopes to work for a non-profit.

A Little Bit of Faith: Be At Peace

By Colleen White

With the beginning of a New Year, your heart might be heavy because you are worried about what the New Year will bring. If you are worrying about 2012, I want you to know that you can be at peace. Whatever the New Year brings, God is in control. I know you may have heard people say this, but it is the truth. All of your worrying will not be able to change a thing about what will or will not happen in 2012. All you can do is focus on each new day that you are able to live and see. All the worrying in the world will not change anything except make you ill. This is not a good thing.

This year try to avoid putting yourself in any kind of bondage. Avoid being a slave to anything, food, drugs, or relationships to name a few. The Bible says in Judges, "The Lord sent a prophet unto the children of Israel, which said unto them, 'Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the house of bondage...' (Judges 6:8). If God has brought you out of some form of addiction, then you know what it is to be in bondage. Don't go back. Look forward and keep your heart open for the possibilities of new opportunities that await you this year.

So if you are walking in fear, if you are troubled, if you are overly concerned about what lies ahead of you this year, God wants you to have peace. "And the Lord said unto him, 'Peace be unto thee; fear not: thou shalt not die' " (Judges 6:23). Whatever you might be concerned about, know that God wants you to be at peace. Don't worry! Things will be okay. Believe in God's word and pray. You can have peace this year. You don't have to walk in fear and doubt. When your entire world seems as if it is falling apart, you can have peace knowing that you are not alone; God is willing to help you get through your situation if you are willing to have faith in Him. Amen? Amen. Have a blessed, joyous, and peaceful new year. Happy New Year!

Rev. John Calvin Smith

The Mission of a Nehemiah - Nehemiah 1:1-4

gates were in a state of ruin. Hearing of the condition in Jerusalem, caused Nehemiah to become extremely sad, and in his state of distress, prayed to the God of Heaven (Nehemiah 1:4). The depressing news of hearing about the condition of Jerusalem led Nehemiah to sincere prayer. That is a great principle that we can learn - mainly, that when we hear of depressing news about the situation of our day, we need to take it to the Lord! Nehemiah responded to the gloomy news of the condition in Jerusalem by appearing before Artaxerxes requesting permission to go to Jerusalem in an effort to build the ravished walls (Nehemiah 2:1-5). Although Nehemiah felt extremely depressed and gloomy about the situation in Jerusalem, he did not allow his sorrow to discourage him from positively doing something about the situation. Yes, he prayed about the situation before he constructively acted to do something about it. Through prayer, careful planning and people working together, Nehemiah's project of building the ruin walls of Jerusalem was completed in fifty-two days (Nehemiah 6:15).

Whereas, Nehemiah's burden was for the ruined walls and gates of Jerusalem, we should be concerned for the spiritual condition of unsaved people in dire need of help. Every man born into this world is spiritually dead and needs to be restored to proper fellowship with God (Romans 5:12). Jesus Christ made a missionary trip from Heaven seeking lost humanity (St. Luke 19:10). Through His once-and-for-all atoning sacrifice for mankind, He made it possible that all men can be saved. Through faith in His finished work, mankind can gain eternal life, for Romans 10:9 says, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shall believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." May the spiritual condition of unsaved people lay heavy upon our hearts to the end that prompt action would be taken to share Christ and His saving work with them.

ARIES
Busy week as the energy around you seems super-charged. With everyone rushing about you will wonder how you'll get anything done much less the things you feel you must get done. Not to worry. Stay calm and flexible and a way will be found. Soul Affirmation: The truth is in me. I bring it forth. Lucky Numbers: 6, 19, 20

TAURUS
You may feel a bit crabby about your health this week. If you feel you need a physical checkup make the appointment this week, if you want to feel and look are better this week skip some lunches and take walks instead. Soul Affirmation: My life gives me limitless possibilities. Lucky Numbers: 2, 30, 40

GEMINI
A new version of an old project lands on your desk this week, and you are not happy about the added responsibility. Recognize it as an opportunity to find the good in all situations. Think of ways to enjoy this task and you'll feel happier at the end of the week. Soul Affirmation: I enjoy learning new things about myself this week. Lucky Numbers: 1, 39, 48

CANCER
Pleasure is on your agenda and you'll find many ways to indulge your craving for quality leisure time. It's a good idea to keep a cautious eye on your budget; don't scrimp, just don't overspend. Get-togethers with friends and family will add to your happiness, especially in the evenings. Soul Affirmation: The key to my happiness lies in my sympathy for others. Lucky Numbers: 18, 32, 50

LEO
Communications flow smoothly this week and your intuition is high. A wild idea for money making could come to you, but you should let it walk on by. Stick to your current plan and use your imagination for ways to streamline your work. Soul Affirmation: I seek to understand but not to judge. Lucky Numbers: 4, 31, 53

VIRGO
The companionship of a dear friend or partner is special this week. You'll be deeply grateful that you have this person in your life. Friendship like this is a blessing, and you are truly blessed with many people who love and care for you. Letting them know how much you care will warm and charm the hearts near to you. Soul Affirmation: Facing down challenges makes me feel good about myself. Lucky Numbers: 3, 24, 54

LIBRA
You continue in your togetherness cycle. Communications between partners are tender and cooperative. You who are single are attracting new admirers every week. The feeling that you share the thoughts of another will be very strong this week. Call this person and validate your intuition. A new invitation arrives in the mail this week. Soul Affirmation: I know that enjoyment is a state of mind this week. Lucky Numbers: 40, 47, 49

SCORPIO
What's this -- a fly in your personal soup? Fish it out, and don't sweat the small stuff this week. Keep your optimism revved up by remembering how unstopably brilliant and wonderful you are. You can handle any situation with poise and grace. This week, practice your grace under a little pressure. You'll be amazed and proud of yourself by how well you manage! Soul Affirmation: The true path is mapped out by my impulses. Lucky Numbers: 6, 22, 35

SAGITTARIUS
Phone calls or letters come in from friends you haven't seen lately, and you'll feel very happy with all their news. You continue to feel very close to a partner, and romantic chat touches on deep subjects this week. Continue to explore your levels of intimacy. "How deep is your love?" and "Ain't no mountain high enough!" Soul Affirmation: Often it's not what I say but the way I say that gets the message across. Lucky Numbers: 16, 49, 51

CAPRICORN
This is a gold-star week. You'll be positively glowing at any and all social events. Many gifts, both tangible and intangible, come to you this week through friendship and from close ties. Enjoy your fabulous self very much. Your sweetheart may want to talk about a deeper commitment. Soul Affirmation: I keep my eyes wide open for a special person who is also looking for me. Lucky Numbers: 5, 37, 41

AQUARIUS
More luck, more opportunities, and more love are in the stars for you this week. Enjoy this up-cycle, and let the things you do with your gifts and talents have lasting effects. Social gatherings are favored. Wear your brightest smile and trust your intuition. Soul Affirmation: I find a source of strength in someone I love. Lucky Numbers: 3, 40, 49

PISCES
Give yourself a chance to learn all you can about love this week. This is a week when you are open to new ideas. Make those ideas center on relationships. Financial matters are worrisome but they can wait. Soul Affirmation: I keep my eyes open for business opportunities this week. Lucky Numbers: 8, 21, 29

Surge in Polls Helps Obama's Re-election Prospects

By George E. Curry
NNPA Columnist

After winning the show-down with House Republicans shortly before Christmas over extending unemployment insurance and receiving an uptick in his job-approval ratings, President Obama is now in a better position to win re-election, despite a sluggish economy.

With the Iowa caucus over and New Hampshire as the next GOP battleground, Obama is expecting to face former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney in the general election next November. Former Speaker of House Newt Gingrich, like other candidates before him, briefly assumed the front-runner mantle before his poor performance in Iowa.

The good news for Obama is that his populist themes and his willingness to call out Republicans are winning over voters.

A story in the Washington Post observed: "A new Washington Post-ABC News poll finds that Americans are still broadly disapproving of Obama's handling of the economy and jobs, the top issues, but that views of his overall performance have recovered among key groups, including independents, young adults and seniors."

It noted, "Obama's job-approval rating is now its highest since March, excluding a temporary bump after the killing of Osama bin Laden: Forty-nine percent approve and 47 percent disapprove."

The poll, taken Dec. 15-18, found Republican Congressional support has fallen to 20 percent.

Both parties have actively courted middle-class voters. And Obama seems to be winning that matchup as well, according to the Washington Post-ABC News poll. When asked about protecting the middle class, 50 percent of respondents said they trusted Obama over Republicans, who were favored by only 35 percent.

This does not mean that Obama is guaranteed re-election.

While Democrats enjoyed watching Republican candidates form a circular firing squad in Iowa, aided by unprecedented spending by outside groups called super PACs, they realize that once the GOP selects a nominee, all that negative campaigning will be aimed at Obama. A large segment of the GOP hates Mitt Romney, but they hate Obama more.

This will be the first presidential election since a pair of 2010 Supreme Court decision cleared the way for unlimited corporate and individual donations to support independent political organizations. It is estimated that such contributions to candidates seeking federal office could reach $6 billion to $7 billion this year.

On another front, the Washington Post reported Sunday that Republican officials have created a video catalogue of every word Obama has uttered since launching his 2008 presidential campaign.

The story said, "The GOP playbook is designed to take one of Obama's greatest assets - the power of his oratory - and turn it into a liability."

One attack on Obama will feature a 2009 clip from the "Today" show in which he said that if he could not fix the economy in three years, "then there's going to be a one-term proposition."

Republican National Committee Chairman Reince Priebus told the Post, "That's a clip the American people will hear and see over and over and over again...The nice thing about Barack Obama is that he's given us plenty of material. The one thing he loves to do is give speeches."

Obama plans to use even more speeches to argue that he is a stronger advocate for the middle-class and unemployed workers than Republicans. He hopes to depict the GOP as concerned only about the plight of super rich and keeping tax loopholes for large corporations.

Like Harry Truman, who campaigned against a do-nothing Congress, Obama is drawing a sharp contrast between his administration and Republicans. However, Obama can't totally disassociate himself from Congress if he wants any additional legislative victories. One of his first tests in 2012 will be to obtain a one-year extension of unemployment benefits, which is set to expire in less than two months.

Obama's team also must do a better job communicating his message if he is to win a second term. Many polls show that although Obama's personal approval ratings are low, many of the policies he has proposed - including using a combination of higher taxes on the wealthy and spending cuts to lower the deficit - resonate with most voters, including many Republicans.

Both Democrats and Republicans are disappointed that the economy remains sluggish.

When asked on the CBS program "60 Minutes" why he should be re-elected, Obama replied, "Not only saving this country from a Great Depression. Not only saving the auto industry. But putting in place a system in which we're going to start lowering health care costs and you're never going to go bankrupt because you get sick or somebody in your family gets sick. Making sure that we have reformed the financial system, so we never again have taxpayer-funded bailouts and the system is more stable and secure. Ending Don't Ask, Don't Tell. Decimating al Qaeda, including Bin Laden being taken off the field."

He added, "But when it comes to the economy, we've got a lot more work to do. And we're going to keep on at it."

To Be Equal #51 - Broadband Access for All: Connect Today, Change Your Tomorrow

By Marc Morial
NNPA Columnist

"Whether we're talking about jobs, education, or health care...Broadband is now a basic requirement to participate in the 21st century economy." Julius Genachowski, Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission

Somewhere in the United States today, a student is unable to finish his homework, a father will not be able to find a job and a mother will not be able to seek proper medical treatment. Today, broadband is a basic need and provides information that is vital to the quality of life and economic stability. Unfortunately one third of Americans remain unconnected and they are overwhelmingly people of color.

The paradox of the Digital Age is that while technology has the capacity to bring people together and connect people to information, it simultaneously presents the threat of deepening the divide between society's information "haves" and "have nots", often referred to as the digital divide.

This dilemma was highlighted in a recent Commerce Department report which found that "Broadband adoption rates varied substantially between different racial and ethnic groups, with 81% of Asian and 72% of White households having broadband Internet access, compared to only 55% and 57% of Black and Hispanic households." Major reasons for these disparities include lack of knowledge, the high cost of getting online, and the lack of an adequate computer. With so much of modern life tied to Internet access, these are barriers that must be overcome. As FCC Chairman Julius Genachowski recently put it, "Closing the digital divide is about achieving the basic American promise of opportunity for all."

The National Urban League

has stepped up to meet this challenge in a big way. In 2010, we joined forces with the One Economy Corporation as part of a Broadband Opportunity Coalition (BBOC) focused on breaking down the barriers to people getting online and getting the information they need to improve their lives. The BBOC is comprised of other leading civil rights organizations, including the NAACP, National Council of La Raza, Asian American Justice Center, the League of United Latin American Citizens, the Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies, and the Minority Media and Telecommunications Council.

This effort is the outgrowth of efforts already underway by the non-profit One Economy Corporation. Since 2000, One Economy, under the leadership of Chairman Rey Ramsey, has been committed to ensuring that every person, regardless of income and location, can maximize the power of technology to improve the quality of his or her life and enter the economic mainstream. In April of last year, One Economy and the BBOC were awarded $28.5 million in federal stimulus funds to support that goal. We are supplementing the stimulus award with private sector matching support valued at $23 million for a total of $51.5 million.

This effort will bring broadband connections to 27,000 low income housing developments, promote digital literacy to 20 million people and offer digital mentoring for more than 235,000 at-risk youth. The National Urban League has also made the expansion of minority participation in the Information and Communications Technology Industry one of the pillars of our 12-point Jobs Rebuild America plan.

In his 2011 State of the Union Address, President Obama set the goal of enabling businesses to provide high-speed wireless services to at least 98 percent of all Americans within five years. We support that goal. Broadband access for all is essential to expanding opportunity, creating jobs, reducing our deficit and winning the future.

Marc H. Morial is the President and CEO of the National Urban League

BE KIND!

Never speak harsh words. Be kind and gentle with your tongue. For it has been said that the tongue can be like a sword. Think long before you criticize your neighbor. Your tongue can be nasty. Living is one of the most beautiful things in the world. But the tongue can kill!

Dallas ISD Proud

Name: Paola Ibanez
School: Lincoln Humanities/Communications Magnet
Class of: 2013
Activities: Dallas ISD Teen Board, Junior Class President, band, journalism, work
Role Model(s): Astrid (fictional character from "White Oleander")
Favorite movie or book: "White Oleander" by Janet Fitch
Plans after high school: Attend college
Why I am proud of my school: I am proud of being a student at Lincoln High School because most of the students face personal adversity on a daily basis, yet, they persevere both in their studies and in extra-curricular activities. The students continue to make Lincoln a shining star in South Dallas. We understand the importance of the legacy that we are a part of, and we are extremely proud to be Lincoln Tigers.

Name: Tristan Stiggers
School: W.W. Samuell High School
Class of: 2012
Activities: Dallas ISD Teen Board, Student Council, basketball, tutoring, watching sports
Role Model(s): Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Will Smith
Favorite movie or book: "Tears of a Tiger" by Sharon Draper and "Limitless" directed by Neil Burger
Plans after high school: Attend the University of Houston
Why I'm proud of my school: I am proud of my school because of our efforts to push education into the community. The possibility of starting an early college is a huge accomplishment for the W.W. Samuell community. Enriching the lives of children today will better benefit their future and the future of our city.

OPRAH REUNITES "ROOTS" CAST FOR 35TH ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL

(AP)- Oprah Winfrey will revisit Roots, the landmark 1977 American television miniseries about slavery, with a primetime TV special set to air on OWN in January. On Oprah and the Legendary Cast of 'Roots' 35 Years Later, the talk show host-turned-TV mogul will reunite the cast in her Montecito, California home to share personal accounts of working on the series and its lasting impact. Cicely Tyson, LeVar Burton, Leslie Uggams, John Amos, Louis Gossett Jr. and Ben Vereen are among the Roots cast members confirmed to appear on the special, which was produced by Harpo Studios. OWN will also bring back its Oprah's Master Class specials, coproduced by Harpo Studios and @radical.media, beginning January 8. The series features in-depth interviews with Winfrey's high-profile celebrity friends and associates. Actors Jane Fonda, Goldie Hawn, Sidney Poitier and Morgan Freeman; media mogul philanthropist Ted Turner; musicians Reba McEntire and Jon Bon Jovi and athletes Laird Hamilton and Grant Hill are set to appear in 2012.

Although not a common item in most kitchens today, quinoa is an amino acid-rich (protein) seed that has a fluffy, creamy, slightly crunchy texture and a somewhat nutty flavor when cooked. Quinoa is available in your local health food stores throughout the year.

HEALTH BENEFITS
 Most commonly considered a grain, quinoa is actually a relative of leafy green vegetables like spinach and Swiss chard. It is a recently rediscovered ancient "grain" once considered "the gold of the Incas." Not only is quinoa high in protein, but the protein it supplies is complete protein, meaning that it includes all nine essential amino acids. Not only is quinoa's amino acid profile well balanced, making it a good choice for vegans concerned about adequate protein intake, but quinoa is especially well-endowed with the amino acid lysine, which is essential for tissue growth and repair. In addition to protein, quinoa features a host of other health-building nutrients. Because quinoa is a very good source of manganese as well as a good source of magnesium, folate, and phosphorus, this "grain" may be especially valuable for persons with migraine headaches, diabetes and atherosclerosis.

CHLOÉ'S WEEKLY GREEN TIPS: START THE YEAR OFF RIGHT! EAT HEALTHY AND FEEL GREAT!

Teen Writers Wanted!

Teen Graffiti Magazine is looking for talented young writers to be published as guest columnists for our Teens Speak column. This is an opportunity for gifted, young journalists to write about a topic of their choosing that is relevant to today's teens.

Teens Speak

We are looking for crisp writing about timely, youth-oriented issues of interest to middle and high school age teens (12-18). The essay must be no more than 600 words. Only manuscripts written by teens between the ages of 12 and 18 years of age will be considered. Submit articles via e-mail as a text document to, editor@teengraffiti.com or contactus@teengraffiti.com

Please include your name, address, age, grade, school and e-mail address. Please put "Teens Speak Submission" in the subject line and include a short one or two sentence bio about yourself (ie: Jane Doe is a 9th grader at Lincoln High School. She enjoys reading and playing tennis). Parental consent is required and must be included.

If you have a photo or artwork that would complement your story, e-mail it in a jpeg format or by mail to: Teen Graffiti Magazine, Teens Speak, P.O. Box 452721, Garland, TX 75045-2721

Submitting an article does not guarantee publication. Teen Graffiti Magazine will reward students with an age-appropriate prize if their submission is published.

Good Grooming Pays Off

Urban Call Staff Reported:

To look sharp you need more than new clothes. Maintaining your hair, nails, teeth, and skin are good hygiene habits that do not cost much, but say much about your character.

You should own a manicure kit. Men's hands are typically exposed to dirt, and germs get under nails. Manicures keep nails clean, short, and shaped. Likewise, pedicures are also a practice you should not neglect. Let's talk oral hygiene. You should brush your teeth twice a day. Flossing will keep your teeth clean and disease-free and your breath fresh. If your teeth are dull, consider whitening strips. Routine dental checkups are highly recommended.

Many men have dry skin. When you shower, try using a body wash with cocoa or shea butter, and use a loofah sponge. Moisturize your skin daily with lotion. Razor bumps and skin irritations are common problems. While there is no single cure, there are steps to make it bearable. Experts suggest that a hot shower before shaving will soften your beard and open the pores. Use a pre-shave lotion or thick gel designed for reducing razor bumps with a sharp, single-blade razor. Take your time, shave in the direction of your hair growth, and do not stretch your skin. This helps you avoid nicks and scars. Shaving every other day allows your skin to heal and facial hair to grow longer and straighter instead of being forced back in. Once a week, use an exfoliating facial cleanser to remove dead cells and trapped hairs that may become ingrown. Finally, if razor bumps persist, see a dermatologist or consider growing a full beard. Just be sure to keep your beard well trimmed to look like a successful, urban gentleman.

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR BASKETBALL CLASSIC

Insurance's second year participating in the event with ALW Entertainment. With the addition of another game, the attendance and energy should be outstanding. The company will be very visible during the day with its customer care vehicle out front and the exhibit area inside. Remember to visit the Farmers booth to enter for a chance to win a prize during each of the three scheduled games.

They hope to highlight some of the great things historically black colleges and universities have to offer and give people a chance to connect with their community, alumni and fans from all over the country. Farmers is proud of its long history of community service in the greater Dallas Fort Worth area, including our outreach programs, corporate contributions and business initiatives.

For more information about the event, please visit alwe.com. Proceeds from the event will help benefit college bound high school students.

BAYLOR TAKES CARE OF TEXAS A&M IN BIG 12 OPENER TO STAY UNDEFEATED

(AP)- With its highest ranking ever and already with the best start in school history, Baylor (No. 5 ESPN/USA Today, No. 4 AP) opened Big 12 play accomplishing another first.

Perry Jones III had 14 points with 12 rebounds, and the Bears remained undefeated with a 61-52 victory over Texas A&M on Monday night for their first 14-game winning streak in school history.

After moving up two spots to No. 4 in the new Associated Press poll earlier Monday, the Bears (14-0) scored the first eight points of the game and lead throughout against the Aggies (9-4).

"I make sure, being the captain of the team, that we don't pay attention to that," senior Quincy Acy said. "It's good to have it, but we want more. ... Just make sure that we don't pay attention to that, and we go out every night and play like we have something to lose."

Division I Unbeaten Teams

After Monday's games, four of the 345 Division I teams remain unbeaten.

Mavs send Thunder to first loss with 100-87 win

(AP) — Dirk Nowitzki scored 10 of his 26 points during the third quarter, sending the Dallas Mavericks to a 100-87 victory over the Oklahoma City Thunder on Monday night.

The Thunder, who topped Dallas on a buzzer-beater in Oklahoma City on Thursday, came in as one of only two unbeaten teams in the NBA at 5-0. Miami was the other but the Heat lost to Atlanta 100-92 earlier Monday night, also falling to 5-1.

Dallas began pulling away with a 9-2 run at the start of the second quarter, but Oklahoma City kept clawing back to keep things close. Then Nowitzki took over.

He opened the second half with a jumper over Kendrick Perkins that left the big man snarling at his own bench. He made another shot with defender James Harden ducking for cover, then scooped in a layup on a play that began with Delonte West spinning Harden to the floor. The layup put Dallas up by 15 and the game wasn't close again.

The Mavs came in 1-4 with a victory over lowly Toronto. Their best effort probably had been their loss at Oklahoma City. Yet before the game, coach Rick Carlisle said, "I don't think we're as far off as it may appear." Dallas fixed two flaws by scoring 56 points in the paint and keeping the rebounds even at 41.

Nowitzki was 10 of 16, with four of his misses from 3-point range. He had six rebounds, three assists and two steals.

Shawn Marion scored 17 points, Jason Terry 15 and Vince Carter a season-high 14 — eight on free throws — for Dallas. Jason Kidd didn't score but had a season-high nine assists.

Oklahoma City's Kevin Durant scored 27 points, but had only four during the pivotal third quarter. Russell Westbrook added 18 points and eight rebounds, and Harden had 16 points and seven rebounds.

History made its mark.

Make yours.

Be inspired to make your mark on history by attending the AT&T 28 Days Speaker Series this Black History Month. On Monday, January 16, at the House of Blues, bring your family and friends to see our special guest speaker. The event will feature a performance by our host, Common.

Get free tickets for the AT&T 28 Days Speaker Series. Only at att.com/28days.
