SERVING THE BLACK COMMUNITY WITHOUT FEAR OR FAVOR SINCE 1947

January 19 - 25, 2017

Black actors won big at the 2017 Golden Globes

The 2017 Golden Globes gave awards to three black actors: Tracee Ellis Ross (for Black-ish), Viola Davis (for Fences) and Donald Glover (for Atlanta). This falls short of the highest number of Globes given to actors of color in a single night.

That record was set in 2007, which also saw three black film actors win Globes — Eddie Murphy and Jennifer Hudson for Dreamgirls, plus Forest Whitaker for The Last King of Scotland. Joining them was Latina actress America Ferrera, who won for her TV series Ugly Betty.

2017 Presidential Inauguration Weekend Schedule

Donald Trump and his soon to be deputy Mike Pence. Credit: AP

Thursday: Wreath-laying and welcome celebration

At 3:30 p.m., President-elect Trump will take part in a wreath-laying ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery.

Friday: The swearing-in ceremony

At 6 a.m., security gates open, allowing attendees to access viewing areas west of the Capitol. Opening remarks begin at 11:30 a.m., with the official swearing-in ceremony commencing at noon.

The procession and parade

Following the ceremony, Congress will host a luncheon for the honorees inside the Capitol. Then, the presidential procession and inaugural parade will offer another chance to catch a glimpse of the new president up close.

Inaugural ball celebrations

Evening celebrations include both official and unofficial balls scattered across the District. The president, vice president and their families will attend the official Inaugural Ball event at the Walter E. Washington Convention Center.

Saturday: National Prayer Service

An interfaith prayer service, a tradition that began with President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's first inauguration in 1933, will take place at Washington's National Cathedral beginning at 10 a.m.

INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

"I will never forget that the only reason I'm standing here today is because somebody, somewhere stood up for me when it was risky. Stood up when it was hard. Stood up when it wasn't popular. And because that somebody stood up, a few more stood up. And then a few thousand stood up. And then a few million stood up. And standing up, with courage and clear purpose, they somehow managed to change the world."

President Barack Obama

MLK's Legacy for Black America in 2017

As a young teenage staff worker for SCLC in North Carolina in the early 1960s, I witnessed firsthand how Martin Luther King, Jr. would stir the consciousness of the masses. We overcame the fear of standing up for righteousness in the presence of evil powers and unjust systems of oppression and suppression.

Legacy is about establishing in one's life and work, that which will endure and last for generations to come. Dr. King's life and work exemplified intellectual honesty, activism, and courage. At a time when the misguided phenomena of so-called "fake news" is gaining momentum in the body politic of the nation, we all should be reminded that Dr. King would always caution that only "The truth will set us free."

This is the reason we are determined to maintain and to sustain the viability of the Black Press of America as the truthful, accurate, and trusted voice of Black America. This year marks the 190th year of the Black Press in the United States. During the height of the Civil Rights Movement led by Dr. King and other leaders, the mainstream press would often attempt to undermine the legitimacy and purpose of the movement for change. But the Black Press always chronicled the news of freedom movement with strategic visibility and editorial support.

In Dr. King's last address in Memphis, Tennessee on the night before his assassination on April 4, 1968, he made statements that still apply and endure today in 2017. Dr. King emphasized that when society appears polarized and deeply divided, we must strive to overcome divisiveness and hopelessness.

Dr. King in his final sermon stated, "Now that's a strange statement to make, because the world is all messed up. The nation is sick. Trouble is in the land; confusion all around. That's a strange statement. But I know, somehow, that only when it is dark enough can you see the stars. And I see God working in this period of the twentieth century in a way that men, in some strange way, are responding."

Thus, what may appear to some to be a "dark" hour is in fact a God-given time to reassert that justice and freedom are still possible and very probable if we unify, organize, mobilize, and speak truth to power. We cannot afford to engage in the cynicism that is now popular.

Martin Luther King, Jr.'s living legacy beacons us to not give in to hopelessness and self-defeatism. We have had difficult times before and each generation is called to stand up with the principles, values, and commitments that we have inherited from so many of our sisters and brothers who sacrificed for us to be where we are today.

King stated, "Now, what does all of this mean in this great period of history? It means that we've got to stay together. We've got to stay together and maintain unity." While race is still a defining factor in American society, we must not allow racial discrimination or racism in any form to divide us or to prevent us from moving forward as families and communities steadfast in our unified actions to improve our quality of life.

Black America will overcome. We have come too far to stand still or go backwards.

Dr. Benjamin F. Chavis, Jr. is President and CEO of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) and can be reached at dr.bchavis@nnpa.org.

A Little Bit of Faith: Keep Praying

Colleen White, Ed.D
Editorial Columnist

Have you ever felt like your prayers are not being heard? Have you felt like you don't know how to pray? Many of us have from time to time. But don't fear, the Bible says in the book of Romans that when we don't know how to pray, the Holy Spirit helps us to pray. It says, "In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groans that words cannot express" (Romans 8: 26).

The Holy Spirit will intercede on our behalf when we do not know how to pray. It is able to take our prayers and lay them before the Heavenly Father. The Holy Spirit will pray according to God's will. It knows just what to pray for. It always has the right words.

We do not have to worry

whether or not our prayers are being heard or whether or not we are praying properly. When the Holy Spirit prays on our behalf, we can be assured that our deepest concerns are known and that the Holy Spirit has presented it before the Father for us. There are no worries. The Holy Spirit is our best "prayer partner". It knows how to pray when we are lacking the proper words.

The next time you're having a difficult time praying, be at peace knowing that the Holy Spirit is praying alongside of you making sure that your prayers are being heard. We can be thankful knowing that our prayers are being presented to the Father in a manner that is far beyond our comprehension. So keep praying! Amen? Amen.

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father, who art in heaven,
hallowed be thy name,
thy kingdom come,
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread
and forgive us our debts,
as we forgive our debtors.
And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil,
for thine is the kingdom and the power
and the glory, forever. Amen.

By STEPHEN HAWKINS,
AP Sports Writer

(AP) — Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones is more convinced than ever that his rookie quarterback can play at the highest level.

And that the Cowboys were good enough to maybe win the Super Bowl this season with Dak Prescott and fellow rookie Ezekiel Elliott.

But another Super Bowl

shot will have to wait for another season after an impressive Prescott-led comeback came up just short in the NFC divisional playoff game against Aaron Rodgers and the Green Bay Packers, who won 34-31 on a game-ending field goal Sunday.

"I know now that this team was capable of playing all the way through this thing, and even with rookies in key spots I know now we were ready to have a win," Jones said. "We didn't. That's very real. ... It hurts, it really hurts."

After the Cowboys were down 21-3 midway through the second quarter, their largest deficit in a season when they won 13 games and were the NFC's top seed, Prescott threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Dez Bryant.

Prescott, who replaced injured veteran Tony Romo in the preseason, threw two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter. After finding Bryant again, Prescott powered through the middle for the 2-point conversion that tied the game at 28.

Then came an exchange of long field goals only 58 seconds apart after the two-minute warning before Rodgers and the Packers got one more shot, and set up Mason Crosby's 51-yard field goal.

Asked about his emotions, Prescott responded, "I think as low as they could get at this point. This is a terrible feeling."

Prescott threw for 302 yards while becoming the first rookie in the Super Bowl era with three TD passes in a playoff game. After his lone interception in the third quarter, the Cowboys responded with one off Rodgers. Elliott ran for 125 yards.

With the loss, the Cowboys (13-4) have now failed to make it past the divisional game in their nine playoff appearances since winning their most recent Super Bowl 21 seasons ago.

"Once we put that behind us, I think there's nothing but good things looking forward in what this team can do," Prescott said.

My Day
By Dr. J. Ester Davis

Why is there an enrollment surge at historically black colleges? Who is new on the NBC News List of 100 African Americans Making History today? What is a podcast and why is "selfie" according to the golden basion, Oxford English Dictionary, "the -word -of -the-year"? The 35th Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Awards Gala, held Saturday, January 14, 2017, was indeed one of the best ever.

The electric keynote speaker was the 7th President of Dillard University from New Orleans, Louisiana, accompanied by the renown Dillard University Choir. The President of this highly acclaimed institution has been recognized for his outspokenness on HBCUs (historically black colleges and universities) and African American Men in college. He has taken charge of social media and his quest propelling students forward. In fact in 2010, BachelorsDegree.com listed this president as one of 25 college presidents you should follow on

Dr. Walter Kimbrough, President, Dillard University, is known as the "hip hop prez", who took the podium unceremoniously, direct, on point, in a few words and completely comfortable. I just love speakers that 'cut to the chase', meaning leaving out unnecessary dialogue and non-icebreaking jokes. Dr. Kimbrough started with the meaning of the word "selfie" as . . . all-about-self. "Selfie" means selfish. His disdainful disapproval of the word and its self-centered meaning was clearly felt like a cool chill.

He went on about 'people that take pictures of themselves . . . brushing their teeth, etc. etc.' He continued on with the challenge. "Why not care about somebody else?" he asked the room of about one thousand. Take a picture and post it as a Big Brother or Big Sister. . .take a picture with a college student and raise money to keep him/her in school.

Dr. Kimbrough is not limited. He is mighty with a pen also. The Washington Post recently published a letter he wrote about his research witnessing an increase in enrollment at historically black colleges in wake of racial tension across the nation. The enrollment at Dillard University is up 22%; at Tuskegee University 32%; South Carolina State 39%. The two key words in this paragraph are "his research". Dr. Kimbrough has "forced" a path as a national expert on fraternities and sororities with "specific expertise regarding historically Black, Latin and Asian groups".

As I am writing this article, I am listening to Dr. Kimbrough on a 30-minute podcast. Look him up. He is all . . . all over the social media landscape. Let me share this one little fact. One might wonder why "selfie" is a word and why "the hip hop prez" bought this message. Last year the word 'selfie' increased 17,000(%)percent. Again... why not care about somebody else? Thank you, Dr. Kimbrough. You are what genuine leadership looks like.
