President Obama Assures Ebola Virus Outbreak In the U.S. Is "Extremely Low"

President Barack Obama and Vice President Joe Biden

AP- President Obama announced, after meeting with top health and security officials about the Ebola outbreak in Africa, that the U.S. government is preparing additional measures to screen passengers in the U.S. and overseas as part of the expanding effort to contain the virus.

"We're ... going to be working on protocols to do additional passenger screening both at the source and here in the United States," the president said.

Dr. Tom Frieden, of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, also confirmed that extra screening might include asking travelers who they had contact with and checking to see if they have a fever.

After his meeting, Obama tried to assure Americans that the chance of an outbreak in the U.S. is "extremely low." He said procedures are in place to "rapidly evaluate" those with symptoms.

He also scolded other countries for not doing enough. "We have not seen other countries step up as aggressively as they need to," he said. "I said at the United Nations and I will repeat that this is an area where everybody has to chip in and everybody has to move quickly in order for us to get this under control."

Amid widespread public concern, the Obama administration has said that it won't shut down flights from affected countries, particularly those in West Africa, arguing this would be counterproductive by restricting aid flights.

The Ebola outbreak is believed to have killed more than 3,400 people in West Africa and has taken the biggest toll in Liberia. There aren't enough beds in isolation units to keep up with the hundreds who get sick each week.

The U.S. military is beginning work in the Liberian capital Monrovia on the main structure of the 25-bed clinic that will treat health care workers infected with Ebola. The U.S. has also promised to build 17 other Ebola treatment centers, which would have space for 100 patients each.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Celebrates 50 years Of Mentoring In The Dallas Community At C.C. Russeau Black & Gold Gala

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc
Alpha Sigma Lamda Chapter- Dallas, Texas

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.'s Alpha Sigma Lambda chapter and the Alpha Merit Group Committee, Inc. held the annual C.C. Russeau Black & Gold Scholarship Gala Saturday, Oct. 18, 7 p.m. at the Sheraton Dallas Hotel. The event is a fundraiser for the 50-year-old Alpha Merit Group mentoring program.

The Alpha Merit Group is a 501(c)3 educational organization founded in 1964. Focused on helping boys between 5th and 12th grades promote academic excellence, build leadership skills and broaden social skills, the program has mentored more than 15,000 boys and has awarded more than $75,000 in scholarships. The group was founded by Earnest Wallace but Russeau played a significant role in the growth of the program. Some Alpha Merit alumni are active members of Alpha Phi Alpha, including the Alpha Sigma Lambda chapter.

The Naturally Isis Harambe Parade October 25th 'A March Against Childhood Obesity'

Dallas- Isis Brantley; worldwide natural hair guru, also known for her Naturally Isis Hair Parade and Festival which has included Erykah Badu as the Grand Marshall, and a hosts of marching bands, celebrities, and thousands from the community celebrating peace and unity, brings to you The Naturally Isis Natural Children's Harambe Parade 'A March Against Childhood Obesity'

Isis aims to bring awareness to the Dallas-Fort. Worth Metroplex by galvanizing children and their parents, and the community overall with the city's first ever march against childhood obesity. According to The Center for Disease Control childhood obesity has more than doubled in children and quadrupled in adolescents in the past 30 years. Childhood obesity has both immediate and long-term effects on health and well-being. Obese youth are more likely to have risk factors for cardiovascular disease, such as high cholesterol or high blood pressure. In a population-based sample of 5- to 17-year-olds, 70% of obese youth had at least one risk factor for cardiovascular disease.

The parade and march will be a part of the Harambee Festival which celebrates its 40th anniversary this year. Harambee is an alternative to Halloween. This is also a celebration of children, their creativity, their brilliance, love, and unity inclusive of marching bands, entertainment, and participation of area schools. The parade and march will be held Oct. 25th 2014 line starts @ 7:30 am at 2950 Gould St. & MLK Blvd Center, and will end at 3101 MLK Blvd at The Dallas Weekly, DFW's #1 urban news source, serving the community for over 55 years.

Please come out and support this effort to save our youth.

A COMMUNITY STATEMENT CONCERNING THE TURMOIL AT DR. BILLY EARL DADE MIDDLE SCHOOL

The Dr. Billy Earl Dade Middle School opened in 2006 with much optimism and enthusiasm for a school of excellence to serve the middle school students in sunny South Dallas. The former elementary school transitioned well to a middle school feeding into Madison High School, giving the two high schools in south Dallas pure feeder patterns. The excitement continued as the principal was one who was well known to the community and many of the students, teachers and ancillary staff were committed to making this an oasis in sunny South Dallas.

For two years, the principal and staff worked toward improving the academic progress of students while at the same time fostering basic social skills development of students, giving students a sense of their personal worth, and engaging the community and community partners in what was slowly but surely could become a beacon of hope and sunshine in sunny South Dallas. The Bond Program provided for a new school, and the Dedication of the new school took place November 2012 under the administration of the principal and staff who had transitioned the school from elementary to middle school. However, the optimism that had carried forth from 2006 through the dedication of the new building in November 2012 was cut short when the principal and teachers were summarily replaced before the move to the new building in the fall of 2013. This transitional staff was replaced with a principal who had no experience as a secondary principal and no experience in sunny South Dallas.

THEOPOLIS VINEYARDS

Theopolis Vineyards is a boutique vineyard and winery located in California's prestigious Yorkville Highlands of the Anderson Valley. Located along Highway 128 in southeastern Mendocino County near the border of Sonoma County, the AVA is a highly elevated, rugged interior wine-growing area. Established in 2003, Wine Critic Robert Parker bestowed upon wine made from grapes harvested from Theopolis Vineyards a stellar rating of 94-96 points, a spectacular showing for the vintner's first harvest in 2006.

Emboldened by the great fruit produced by the land, it's owner and founder, Theodora R. Lee, a bold and dynamic Texan and trial lawyer at Littler, is now bottling her own wines. In addition to bottling the richly intense and flavorful Petite Sirah, Theopolis Vineyards strikes a lighter note by bottling a Symphony, a white wine, which is a crossing of Muscat and Grenache Gris.

Seeking Community Input For Schools Of Choice

Dallas ISD Trustee Joyce Foreman, District 6

Dallas ISD Trustee Joyce Foreman, District 6

The Dallas ISD is committed to providing more educational options for our students, based on their specific interests, learning styles, and needs. By tapping into our students' individuality, we can improve their learning dramatically and ensure that they are college-and-career ready by the time they graduate.

Over the next five years, we plan to launch 35 new public choice schools or programs that reflect student, parent, educator, and community desires and needs. These new schools or programs will look similar to some existing Dallas ISD magnet schools, only without the academic admissions requirements.

Currently, District 6 does not have any schools of choice. Please take part in the district survey to let your voice be heard about our community's desires for the educational options available for our students.

Take the survey at https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/schoolchoice2014.

I would like to remind parents to be actively involved in your child's education and school. Take time to join the Parent Teacher Association or the Site Based Decision Making Team on your child's campus. As the first six weeks of instruction ended October 13, it is my hope that parents and guardians of District 6 students attended Secondary Parent Conference Night held October 13, Middle School Parent Conference Night held October 14, and Elementary Parent Conference Night held October 16.

As we continue our focus on improving and supporting education for our students, I want to express my gratitude to those community partners who volunteered to take part in the district's "Principal for a Day" event.

This year, T.L. Marsalis Elementary School has been selected to participate in the Dallas ISD's Strategic Feeder Pattern Initiative--Imagine 2020. Marsalis will be a part of an exciting opportunity to provide more services to the school, students and community. Community partners will collaborate with Marsalis to provide ongoing academic assistance and enrichment for its students.

Jimmie Tyler Brashear recently closed its 2014 Jump Rope for Heart Fundraiser held Sept. 30 through Oct. 17. The program, "It takes a Heart to be a Hero," featured the Falcon Flyers, a local jump rope team that performed for students, along with a discussion on heart health from a representative from the American Heart Association. All proceeds raised during Jump Rope for Heart will be donated to the American Heart Association.

Brashear will also host Character Counts week October 20-24 which emphasizes leadership and character building for the school's students, and Red Ribbon Week, which encourages students to be active in living a drug-free life, October 27-31.

Barbara Jordan Elementary School will host their annual community walk and health fair at 8 a.m., Saturday, October 25 at the school. The school will also host the "Fall into Literacy Family Night," from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., Thursday, October 30.

Maria Moreno Elementary School will host parents at Coffee with Principal Gonzales at 8:15 a.m., Friday, October 24, encouraging parents to take on active relationships with the school and its staff. Moreno will also host Carnival at 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., October 24 on the campus. Carnival is a free event open to families and students of Moreno ES.

District 6 schools are doing wonderful things to encourage learning and growth for all of our students. Whether you are a parent, community member or alumni, take the time to get involved with your local school because your interaction matters, your involvement matters, and your voice matters.

ARQUILLA SMITH: A DEDICATED WOMAN OF FAITH

BY DENISE JOHNSON STOVALL

Arquilla Smith passed away on Tuesday, Oct. 7, 2014 at her home in Dallas. She was 96.

Mrs. Smith was born on Feb. 1, 1918, to Joe and Elizabeth Holt in Maysfield, TX. (Milam County). She was the youngest of 16 children.

Always ready to worship in church, Mrs. Smith professed her belief in Christ at an early age. She would teach Sunday school to the other children. When she became an adult she moved to Cuero, TX. She received her nursing license and became the owner of a nursing home with her late husband, the Rev. Charles Smith.

Mrs. Smith moved to Dallas in 1968. She was inducted into the Order of the Eastern Star, a lodge affiliated with the International Masons. It is one of the largest fraternal organizations and has both women and men.

An active community organizer, Mrs. Smith was a member of the Association of Community Organization for Reform Now (ACORN). During every election Mrs. Smith rallied her neighbors and friends to vote. She was a member of the board of directors of KNON 89.3 FM Radio, encouraging the staff to present music requested by the listeners and public service programming.

Never wanting to stop learning, in 1974 Mrs. Smith attended Eastfield Junior College, Mesquite, TX. She may have been the school's first student who was in her late '70s. Mrs. Smith graduated in 1974 with an associate degree in child development.

Up until her 90's Mrs. Smith was very active in the church. In Dallas she was a member of Camp Wisdom United Methodist Church, Munger Place United Methodist Church, Glen Oaks United Methodist Church. and finally Light of Love Covenant Community Church.

At Camp Wisdom UMC, Mrs. Smith was best known for encouraging the laity to assert themselves as Disciples of Christ. She trained dozens of men, women and youth to become certified "lay speakers", preaching the word of God. In fact, some went on to accept "their call to Christ" and became clergy. She also wrote a Christian play called, "The Great White Throne". It was performed by Camp Wisdom members at churches throughout the Dallas Metroplex.

Mrs. Smith passed away on Oct. 7, 2014. A memorial service was held on Sat., Oct. 11, 2014 at Evergreen Memorial Funeral Home. She leaves to cherish her memory nieces Lola Hayden, Brenda Howard, and Eula Holt; granddaughter Charlene Smith; great grandson Eric Smith; great-great grandson Justin Smith and a host of nieces, nephews, church members and friends.

The Homegoing of Mr. Richard Charles Williams "R.C."

R.C. Williams was born to the late Marvin C. Williams and Delta (Johnson) Williams on September 9, 1919 in Omaha, Texas.

He was a member of Oak Grove Church of Christ in Cason, Texas. He worked on the Justiss Ranch and retired as a Civil Service worker from Ref River Army Depot. He was a hard worker, loving husband, father and grandfather.

Mr. Williams was married to the late Nina Mae Williams for 63 years and to this union seven children were born.

He preceded in death by his parents, his wife Nina Mae Williams, two daughters Wilma D. Chism and Mary L. Fields, one great granddaughter that he raised Nicole Williams, one great-great granddaughter Myricall Terry, a brother Will Williams, Sr., two sisters Nora Lee Williams and Pearline Evans.

He leaves to cherish his memories two sons and two daughters-in-law Shelton and Cametha Williams, Charles M, and Evelyn Williams all of Omaha, Texas; three daughters and two sons-in-law Wilma Hooks of Mt. Pleasant, Texas; Mae Dean and Floyd Fleming, Appezene and Charles Smith, Jr. all of Omaha, Texas; one great-great granddaughter that he raised Aaliyah (Leah) Williams; twenty eight grandchildren, sixty five great grandchildren , fifty two great great grandchildren; one sister Sara Howard of Mt. Pleasant, Texas and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, other relatives, church family and friends.

Know Your Rights, Make Your Vote Count

BY CONGRESSWOMAN EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON

Unlike any other time in American history, it is important for all eligible citizens to exercise their right to vote on November 4th. Recently, there has been significant dialogue regarding which party will control the House and the Senate in Washington. These conversations highlight a very real point…this election is critical to the future of minorities, and middle-class Americans. Voter engagement is crucial.

In minority communities, there is a common misconception that voter turnout is only important during presidential elections. Consequently, adhering to this school of thought could result in more than a decade of financial and political oppression. It is not enough to see massive voter turnout in 2016, the same level of voter turnout must occur on November 4th.

Since the election of President Barack Obama, America's first African-American president, the Republican Party has become the "Obstructionist" Party. During the current Congress, the GOP has done everything in its power to ensure the ineffective operation of our federal government. For example, in 2013 the Republican Party caused a government shutdown.

Now, with the help of the U.S. Supreme Court, the Obstructionist Party has shifted its efforts to implementing new voter ID laws and unconstitutional "poll taxes" that block the votes of approximately 600,000 eligible voters in Texas.

The new Texas voter ID law lists state drivers licenses, voter identification certificates, state ID cards, concealed gun permits, military ID's, citizenship certificates, and passports as the only forms of permissible voter identification. Student ID cards, issued by the state's colleges and universities, and other forms of government identification, including a voter registration card, are not acceptable forms of ID under the law.

The ability to utilize concealed gun licenses, as a form of acceptable voter identification highlights the reality that these new laws were created to favor a specific demographic, while disenfranchising others. Why would a state deliberately violate the civil rights of millions of its residents? Research shows that if African-Americans and Latinos successfully turned out to vote, many so-called red states would become blue.

A Congress controlled by Democrats would guarantee a minimum wage of $10.10 an hour. This would occur during the first 100 days of a new Congress. Additionally, increased access to early childhood education would become a reality, and the Equal Pay Act, which ensures that women earn the same wages as their male counterparts, would go into effect. But none of these vital changes will occur without proper voter education, and participation.

To be prepared for the November 4th election, I encourage all voters to prepare themselves by visiting www.sos.state.tx.us to confirm their registration status. Voters can also visit www.votetexasgov to learn their correct polling places, and know their rights.

Do not allow yourself to be denied your right to vote based on technicalities. Educate yourself and vote on November 4th to strengthen our democracy.

JESUS' DEFINITION OF GENUINE GREATNESS MATTHEW 18:1

REV. JOHNNY C. SMITH, PASTOR – MOUNT MORIAH MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH

Many biblical scholars are not in agreement on which festive celebration was the occasion for Asaph's writing of Psalm 81. There are those who advance that the Passover was the occasion; whereas, others think that the Feast of Tabernacles best fits the occasion for the writing of Psalm 81. Whichever festive day in view, the psalm is filled with excitement over God's great deliverance. In fact, in verses 1-2, the psalmist summons the congregation to sing triumphantly to the Lord, their strength and to accompany their praise with musical instruments - "Sing aloud unto God our strength: make a joyful noise unto the God of Jacob. Take a psalm, and bring hither the timbrel, the pleasant harp with the psaltery."

As a nation (vv. 3-5), they were summoned to keep the statue of appearing at the festival. The very law of God required that every male had to keep the following festivals three times a year: Feast of Passover, Feast of Unleavened Bread, and the Feast of Tabernacles (Deuteronomy 16:16). As stated in verse 5, "For this was a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Jacob." In verses 6-7, the psalmist reminded Israel of God's dealings with them during their bondage experience in Egypt and their wilderness experience after they left Egypt. He continued to rehearse God's dealing with the people during the giving of the law.

God had promised to bless the people if they were obedient; therefore, they should not serve another god. God's decree was specific - "Hear, O my people, and I will testify unto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken unto me; There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god. I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it" (vv.8-10).

The psalmist concludes this psalm by recalling that if the nation disobeys, they will be punished (vv. 11-12); as the people did not hearken to the voice of God so verse 12 states, "So I gave them up unto their own hearts' lust: and they walked in their own counsels." On the other hand in verses 13-16, if they obey God, He will bless the nation by destroying their enemies and continually provide for them - "He should have fed them also with the finest of the wheat: and with honey out of the rock should I have satisfied thee" (v.13).

May God Bless!

Voting for the Party or the Person?

BY JAMES CLINGMAN NNPA COLUMNIST

We say we have "voting power," but we have settled merely for the "power to vote." We fight for the "right to vote" but we fail to "vote right." Voting is a means to gain political power, not an end that simply allows one to participate in the act. As true as those statements are and as many times as we have heard the phrase, "This is the most important election of our time," and as much as we can see our lack of political reciprocity for our precious votes, we continue to fall for the same old tired political clap-trap prior to every election.

Today, Black people vote overwhelmingly for Democrats, as opposed to pre-1933, when the vast majority of Blacks voted for Republicans. Talk about a schizophrenic voting bloc, that be us, y'all. And what do we get in return? A good feeling, that is, until the next election rolls around and the usual suspects return to tell us how important "this" election is and how we should vote their "straight ticket" once again. They want us to believe that all Dems are good and all Repubs are evil. That's insulting to Black voters.

All the Black electorate does is provide jobs for politicians, some of whom care nothing about us and haven't done a day's work in office since we put them there. To make our political situation even worse, many Black voters simply, and I do mean "simply," vote for anyone who claims to be a Democrat. They vote for the party rather than for the person. Quite frankly, and I say this in love, that's just stupid.

Why do we keep falling for this hype? We achieved what most Black people considered the ultimate level of political victory when Barack Obama was elected, yet, since 2008 Black folks have made little or no progress; we still languish at the bottom in the most important category: Economics. Locally, we have elected and supported Democrats who have run our cities into the ground and left their constituents, Black folks, frustrated and marginalized. Yet, we continue to subscribe to the "Vote Democrat!" mantra.

The way we participate in politics is shameful and childish. All we want is the right to vote, which we couch in terms of "voting power." If it were power we'd be getting something in return for our vote. Regardless of how much we are taken for granted, we keep coming back, subjecting ourselves to it like a bunch of masochists.

Some Black folks say they do not vote for the party, rather they vote for the person. That's easy to say, but in the voting booth it's obviously a different story. I wonder if Barack Obama would have won if he had been a Republican.

As I said, the Black electorate, after all of these years in the political game, is still naïve and amateurish. We are still playing just to play and not to win. We remain in the clutches of talking-head commentators who carry the water for the party and instruct us to vote the way they tell us. And we do it!

Before any of you dyed-in-the-wool Democrats get angry because I downed your party, understand that I have the same thing to say about the Republican Party. I believe we must be independent, not necessarily as a structured political party. We should be independent in our thinking and reasoning. That's what the game is really all about. If we are not getting anything from the game, why are we playing?

Carter G. Woodson, in his timeless work, The Mis-education of the Negro, declared, "Real politics...is deeply rooted in the economic foundation of the social order." He went on to say, "History does not show that any race, especially a minority group, has ever solved an important problem by relying altogether on one thing, certainly not by parking its political strength on one side of the fence because of empty promises. There are Negroes who know better, but such thinkers are kept in the background by the traducers of the race to prevent the enlightenment of the masses. The misleading politicians are the only persons through whom the traducers act with respect to the Negro, and there are always a sufficient number of mentally undeveloped voters who will supply them a large following."

The right to vote is important, but we reduce and insult the franchise by wearing political party blinders. Stop listening to and following the political hacks' instructions regarding party-line voting. Vote for the person based on his or her record of having worked in your best interest; do not vote for one nebulous political party that cannot be held accountable for ignoring us or taking us for granted.

U.S. Trails More than 100 Countries in Voter Turnout

BY GEORGE E. CURRY NNPA COLUMNIST

Lost in the frenzy to erect barriers to voting, including reducing the hours available for early voting and imposing strict voter ID requirements, is the embarrassing fact that the United States lags behind more than 100 countries in the percentage of registered voters who show up on Election Day.

The U.S. ranks 120th with a voter turnout rate of 66.5 percent. That's well behind No. 1 Australia (94.5 percent) and even behind Guyana (88.5 percent), Belize (80.4 percent), Mozambique (78 percent), Honduras (72.8 percent) and Uganda (70.8 percent).

Not surprisingly, countries with compulsory voting, such as Australia, have the highest turnout rates. However, those with such laws and lax enforcement, such as Brazil and Mexico, do not fare as well as Australia. And those that have eliminated compulsory voting, including the Netherlands, reported a subsequent drop in voter participation.

The Center for Voting and Democracy says the easier it is to register, the higher the participation rate.

"Another country with a highly efficient registration process is France. At the age of eighteen, all youth are automatically registered. Only new residents and citizens who have moved are responsible for bearing the costs and inconvenience of updating their registration. Similarly, in Nordic countries, all citizens and residents are included in the official population register, which is simultaneously a tax list, voter registration, and membership in the universal health system. Residents are required by law to report any change of address to register within a short time after moving. This is also the system in Germany (but without the membership in the health system)."

According to the Center for Voting and Democracy, "The elimination of registration as a separate bureaucratic step can result in higher voter turnout. This is reflected in statistics from the United States Bureau of Census, 1982-1983. States that have same day registration, or no registration requirements, have a higher voter turnout than the national average. At the time of that report, the four states that allowed election day registration were Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maine, and Oregon." Since then, Idaho has changed to allow same day registration. North Dakota is the only state that requires no registration.

However, the trend is to erect more barriers to voting.

"Since the 2010 election, new voting restrictions are slated to be in place in 22 states. Unless these restrictions are blocked - and there are court challenges to laws in six of those states - voters in nearly half the country could find it harder to cast a ballot in the 2014 midterm election than they did in 2010. The new laws range from photo ID requirements to early voting cutbacks to voter registration restrictions. Partisanship and race were key factors in this movement. Most restrictions passed through GOP-controlled legislatures and in states with increases in minority turnout," The Brennan Center for Justice at New York University reported.

Today's efforts to suppress the Black vote mirrors similar actions in the 1800s.

"Voter registration originated in the early 19th century as a method of disenfranchisement. Many states were concerned with the growing number of foreign-born transients participating in local government, and so they developed a system of registration to ensure that these non-citizens could not vote. While this did disenfranchise transients and the foreign-born, many poor citizens were also not included on the voter rolls; they were often not home when the assessors came by, which was typically during the workday, so they were not included. Many areas that were largely Democratic rebuffed the registration system, because most of the poor, immigrants, and other potentially disenfranchised groups tended to vote Democrat," Alexander Keyssar wrote in his book, The Right to Vote: The Contested History of Democracy in the United States.

He continued, "Near the beginning of the 20th century, other disenfranchisement issues arose, mostly concerning the ability of African-Americans to vote. Laws in the South were designed 'expressly to be administered in a discriminatory fashion,' where the validity of a vote due to small mismarks, an arbitrary assessment of a voter's 'understanding,' or other minutia would be subject to the whim of an election official."

Our challenge today is to expand voter participation, not constrict it.

As the Center for Voting and Democracy noted, "The United States is one of only a few democracies in the world where the government does not take responsibility for registering voters. Instead, our government leaves the construction of voter rolls up to partisan and non-partisan voter registration organizations, political parties, election officials and active citizens."

It concluded, "Voter registration should be the mutual responsibility of citizens and their government. The government should not only facilitate registration; it should actively register adults who are eligible to vote as part of its responsibility to have accurate rolls. 100% voter registration should be the goal. Moreover, universal voter registration has the potential to bring together conservatives who are concerned about fraudulent voter registrations and liberals who are concerned about anemic political participation."

A Little Bit of Faith: Come, Lord

BY COLLEEN WHITE

With all that is going on in the world we may want to stick our heads into a hole and stay there for a while. However, for those of us who are waiting for the Lord's return, we see the chaos in the world as one of the many signs that the Lord is going to return soon. In the book of Revelation it says in the last chapter, "He who testifies to these things says, 'Yes, I am coming soon.' Amen. Come, Lord Jesus" (Revelation 22:20). The apostle John was anxious for Jesus to return.

When it seems as if all hope is gone, we too can be like the apostle John and say, "Come, Lord Jesus" (Revelation 22:20). This does not mean that we are throwing our hands up and walking away from life's trials. What it does mean that we recognize the signs and we too look forward to His return as well. We should be excited because we know that Jesus will return very soon.

Nevertheless, you might not be that excited about Christ's retuning because you are not ready. If you're not ready, does this mean that you are not saved? Does it mean that you're not living your life the way you think you should? Or does it mean that you're too in love with the world that you cannot let it go.

Whatever your reasoning take time to search your heart and see why you may not be excited that the Lord may be coming soon. Do know this, God already knows your heart, you too need to know your heart and stop telling yourself lies. Amen? Amen.

To add to this lack of experience, the school was staffed with approximately 13 Teach for America teachers and 7 first year teachers. These individuals with NO prior teaching experience replaced experienced teachers. To further complicate matters, the central administration ignored information that two rival schools would be combined into one. No plans were made to proactively address these teen rivalries. The results: Dade went back academically in every measurable area, chaos was the order of the day, and the principal who was selected by the DISD Senior Administration was released to become a principal facilitator - one who coaches other principals! Another selection of the DISD Executive Administration was brought in for the next year ---and summarily removed six weeks into the school year! The stellar replacement for this middle school placed in turmoil by actions of the DISD Executive Administration is another elementary principal who has no secondary experience. Simultaneously, the experienced assistant principals were removed and replaced by another group of those who have no ties to this community --- coming in well after the start of the school year. The student demographics for Dade are 69.5% Black; 29.3% Hispanic and 1 percent other. The administration is:

1 Principal - Hispanic Female

4 Assistant Principals: 2 Female Hispanics; 1 White Female; and 1 Black Female (an all-female administrative team for a campus in turmoil and where there is a clear need for strong male models for both the female and male students.) Additionally, the Executive Administration decided to remove teachers and replace them with Instructional Coaches from around the District - the result -day 1, over half of the Instructional Coaches were no shows, so the classes were doubled up; a food fight ensued, and the chaos continued. Day 2 -three of the Instructional Coaches resigned leaving classes without assigned teachers; students continued their protests for the removal of trusted teachers and leaders. The Superintendent canceled the Parent Meeting to brief parents --- a meeting scheduled on Middle School Parent Conference Night which was an optimum time to reach the most parents, and a continued sense of chaos and disorganization continues. These missteps orchestrated by the Executive Administration of DISD are a disservice to the Dade School Community.

- We, the community, call upon the Superintendent to host a town hall meeting to address the future of Dade Middle School to ensure a semblance of stability and opportunity for student
- We call upon the Superintendent to give respect to the parents of Dade students by addressing this directly with them and answering any questions they may have;
- We call upon the Board of Trustees to review this situation which has placed a troubled school in greater harm; to remove a current DISD School Board member from a public school is highly unacceptable and an appropriate remedy MUST be developed and enforced.
- We call upon the Superintendent to cite specific statues that would allow for the ejection of an elected official from pubic school property, within that member's Trustee District. We call upon the superintendent to address the criteria for permitting one trustee to attend staff meetings while excluding other trustees. We call upon the superintendent to adhere to his amended contract that requires him to foster positive relationships among school board trustees.

Concerned citizens of the Dade School community desire a stable learning environment filled with high expectations, dedicated, competent educators with a successful track record of working with diverse urban students.

DART Rail Replacement Brings Weekend Changes Through November

Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART) rail service in downtown Dallas will be discontinued for six weekends beginning Saturday, October 25, to Sunday, November 30, to allow track replacement along Pacific Avenue and Bryan Street.

Rail segments involved include the Red and Blue Lines between Union Station and Pearl/Arts District Station, the Green Line between Victory and Deep Ellum Stations, and the Orange Line between Victory and LBJ/Central Stations. Only the Red Line will operate on the Pearl/Arts District-LBJ/Central portion of the Orange Line on these days.

DART shuttle buses will be in place to serve the affected downtown stations at red "Rail Disruption" bus stops. Five separate temporary routes will be in operation, including express service between Pearl/Arts District and Union Station.

Passengers traveling on these six weekends, including Thursday to Sunday during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday weekend, are strongly encouraged to allow plenty of extra time, especially if rail-to-bus transfers are involved. Fans attending weekend events at American Airlines Center, as well as participants in the Capital One Bank Dallas YMCA Turkey Trot on Thanksgiving Day may also be impacted by delays. Normal weekend service is scheduled to resume in time for the annual Children's Medical Center Holiday Parade.

Service and project updates will be available at DART.org/CBDRailReplacement.

VOTE FOR Steve Brown

as your Public Advocate for Texas Railroad Commissioner

The Texas Railroad Commission has nothing to do with railroads, but everything to do with regulating the oil, gas, and coal industry.

As the Commission's public advocate, Steve will balance energy industry influence with the needs of all Texans.

Steve Brown is making history. He is the youngest African-American Democratic candidate to ever win a statewide primary election. When he wins in November, Steve will be the youngest African-American Democrat to ever hold state office in Texas.

VOTE YES FOR PROP 8
Dallas is worth it.

VOTE YES FOR PROP 8

WHY YES FOR PROPOSITION 8

- Voting "Yes" on Proposition 8 will provide a much-needed update to the compensation system for Dallas City Council. The demands of being the nation's 9th largest city mean our city council members are working 40 to 60 hours each week.
- Voting "Yes" on Proposition 8 allows talented members of our community to leave their positions and use their skills to serve full-time, but still earn a middle class salary.
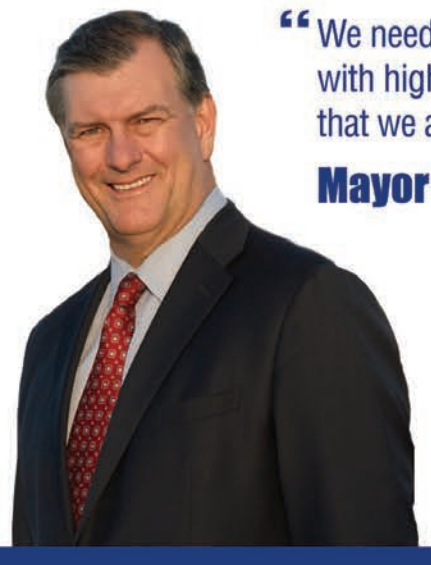
- City council members have had only three salary increases since 1930. The last increase was 13 years ago.
- The salary increase does not apply to current city council members, only to candidates elected in June of 2015.

EARLY VOTING BEGINS OCT. 20.
ELECTION DAY IS NOV. 4.



"We need to attract the very best candidates to serve our city, and to do this we need to realize that this is a full-time job with high demands on time and talent. I believe that increasing council member pay is not only fair, but will also ensure that we are opening this opportunity to anyone and everyone who has the valuable skills our city council needs."

Mayor Mike Rawlings

"Prop 8 will allow us to provide fair and equitable compensation for our mayor and council members for the weighty responsibility of work done on behalf of the citizens of Dallas. A strong compensation for our city leaders allows us to attract and retain quality and qualified candidates for these important roles in our city."

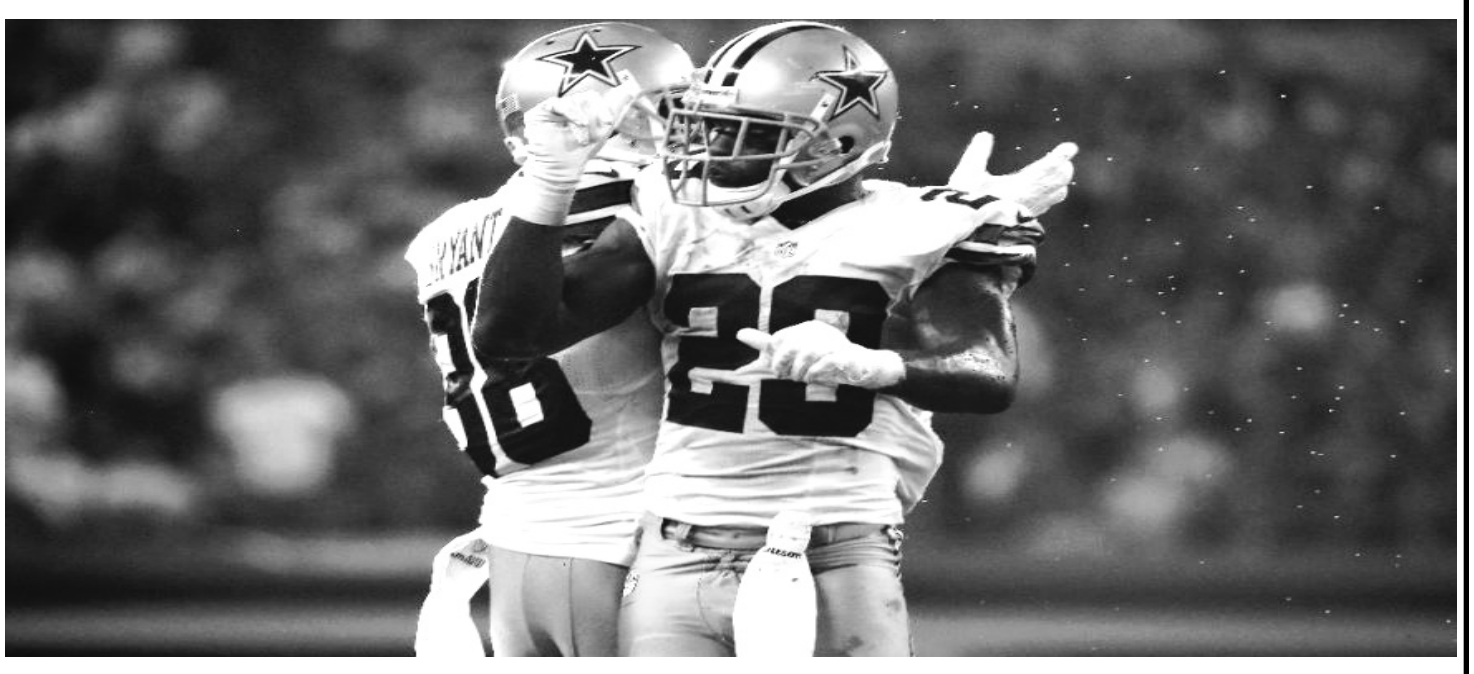
COWBOYS WIN SIXTH STRAIGHT, MURRAY BREAKS 56-YEAR-OLD RECORD



AP - DeMarco Murray moved ahead of Jim Brown in the NFL record book. Tony Romo moved the Dallas Cowboys up and down the field for their sixth straight win.

Murray broke Brown's 56-year-old mark with his seventh straight 100-yard rushing game to start a season, Romo threw three touchdown passes and the Cowboys beat the New York Giants 31-21 Sunday.

MORE: Who is Gavin Escobar? | Murray breaks Jim Brown's record | Week 7 scoreboard | Stats

Romo had a fourth scoring pass overturned on replay. Instead, Murray wound up with his seventh rushing touchdown of the season on a 1-yard plunge.

He finished with 128 yards on the ground to pass Brown, who hit the century mark in the first six games of the 1958 season for Cleveland.

The Cowboys (6-1) are off to their best start since winning six of their first seven on the way to a 13-3 finish in 2007, when they were the top seed in the NFC before losing to New York in their first playoff game.

Eli Manning had three touchdown passes for the Giants (3-4), who have lost road games to the NFC East's top two teams in consecutive weeks. New York now has two-game skids on either side of a three-game winning streak.

Dallas tight end Gavin Escobar had his first two-touchdown game, and Dez Bryant finished with a season-high 151 yards receiving. Romo was 17 of 23 for 279 yards with an interception.

Bryant had a touchdown taken away when he stretched his left arm over the goal line as he was being tackled by Prince Amukamara. The call was overturned on review, and Murray scored on the next play for a 28-14 fourth-quarter lead.

Murray didn't return in the first half after falling down in the open field on his longest run before halftime, a 21-yard sprint around right end. He spent a few minutes with trainers on the sideline but didn't leave the field.

The fourth-year back from Oklahoma returned in the second half and broke Brown's record on a 1-yard plunge early in the fourth quarter after a 15-yard carry put him on the verge of setting the mark.

FUNERAL HOMES

Five big reasons to consider
Black & Clark Funeral Home

1. We work harder to earn your business. We can't afford to provide anything less than impeccable service, or to leave you with less than the best impression possible.
2. You're not just our client, you're our boss. We don't lose sight of who we're working for. After all, you're the one we answer to.
3. We arrange funerals, we don't sell them. It is our responsibility to honor your wishes and respect your budget.
4. We like meeting families, not goals. Like you, we are a part of this community supporting our neighbors when they need us.
5. We spend time with you. Arranging a fitting tribute is important to you, and you don't deserve to be rushed.

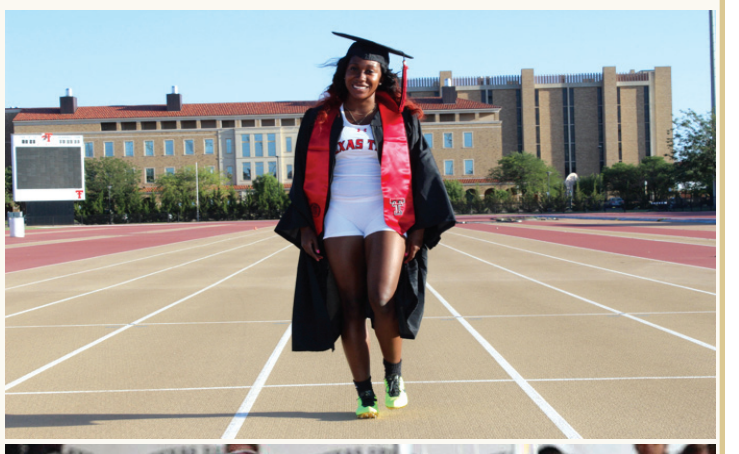
My Day: Road to Rio

BY DR. J. ESTER DAVIS



Candace Jackson is a college educated, talented, fashionable twenty-three(23)year old on a mission. The mission you ask? Make the USA World Team headed to Beijing in 2015 and represent the USA at the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro (Brazil) in 2016. Candace , who has been running track since middle school, is a graduate of Skyline High School where she ranked #2 in the State of Texas while in high school and #7 in the nation in2008. She graduated from Texas Tech University in 2013 with a Bachelor in Arts and Sciences in Psychology. On November 1, 2014, proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jackson, will drive their daughter to Phoenix, where she will reside and began training at the renown World Training Center in Phoenix, Arizona. The coach in Phoenix remembers Candace from her high school days.

Candace Jackson's litany of accomplishments are too many to chronicle in this article, but let me cover some of the highlights. She won multiple State Championships for Dallas Skyline. Nine time NCAA AA-American. Broke Texas Tech University School record in the 200 meter dash in 2011. Qualified for the USA Trials in 2011. Qualified for the NCAA Nationals for years 2010 to 2013. She remains the current school record holder (Texas Tech) in the 4X1 and 4X4 meter relay. In the Olympic Development Section, she won both the 4X1 and 4X4 Meter relays at the Penn Relays in 2014.

Candace and her family are active members of the Greater New Zion Baptist Church. Her Dad, a former quartet singer, sings with the Male Chorus and she is a member of the Genesis Young Adult Choir.

Candace is an exemplary role model accompanied with good old fashioned American values and a direct manner. When time permits Candace is volunteering in her community and enjoying the company of an enthusiast young nephew.

Donations and sponsorships are needed for this young lady's journey. For the interim, make them directly to her. Feel free to send donations addressed to Ester Davis, Staff Writer at the Dallas Post Tribune or Greater New Zion Baptist Church, where a historic celebration is brewing. (See our church ad also in this paper.

The 140th (from 1874 - 2014)Church Anniversary the first and second Sundays in November. WOW!!!
